Stock

How many individual products do you sell? How many different labour charges do you use? Jim2 gives you the power to implement true stock control – using FIFO (first in, first out) stock principles. Jim2 features serial number tracking on your choice of product lines and allows stock grouping to give you better reporting and searching. You can raise purchase orders through Jim2 for the basic stock that you sell, or place specific purchase orders for customer special orders. If you don't want to type up the orders, then use 'Auto Create Purchase Orders' and Jim2 will create the order for you, using vendor stock codes, ready for you to print, email or fax directly to your vendor. On receipt of your stock, you can print stock stickers that include retail pricing and barcodes.

Creditor and Debtor Management

Finish a purchase order (receive the stock and approve the payment), or raise an invoice for a customer, and your creditor and debtor management runs in the background. No more double keying of this data – Jim2 is recording the money owed and received, building statements and remittances, using electronic banking to pay the bills, and recording GST liability. Your business is now monitoring the financial side by tracking every purchase and sale, returning control over your cashflow back to you – and in real time. Jim2 even manages your Leading Edge central billing.

Service Management

The customer brings in the Desktop PC that needs repair. When the sales person books in the Service Job, the customer can receive a detailed Job receipt, including your Service Terms and Conditions, and listing all supplied products (disks, cables, devices). Each supplied product of the Service Job can have a Job sticker. Booking in instantly informs the workshop of the details of this job, including which tech is allocated to work on the Job, all the customer's information, job number, fault description, book-in comments, job priority, job status and additional parts supplied by the customer (keyboard, mouse, etc). As the job is worked on, the technicians share responsibilities, each entering comments, their labour, parts and software used into the Job, giving a complete cost and preparing the Job for invoicing.
